

King salmon farming photos

SLO: Students will be able to use the photos to write captions, write about what people are thinking and write a story.

INTRODUCTION:

King salmon farming involves many different people, locations and processes. It provides lots of opportunities for students to think about what's going on and what people are thinking.

WHAT YOU WILL NEED:

- King salmon farming photos activity sheet – 1 per student
- King salmon farming photo sheet – 1 per student

ONLINE VERSION:

kingsalmon.co.nz/ed/activity8

ACTIVITY:

Using the photo sheet, students discuss what is happening, write captions, thoughts or even use them to begin a story. This is a multi-level exercise and can link in with students' current writing.

ACTIVITY SHEET

King salmon farming photos

A photo tells a thousand words. This activity about King salmon farming can link in with your current writing. Use one or several of the photos in the Photo Sheet to do one or all of the activities below.

1. Discuss in pairs or groups what is happening in the photos(s).
2. Write a caption describing what is happening in the photo(s).
3. If you were the person in the photo(s), what would you be thinking?
4. Use a photo to answer the following questions and then write your story.
 - What is the photo?
 - Who are the characters in the story?
 - Set the scene, where are you?
 - What is going to happen next?
 - Where and how will the story end?

2

3

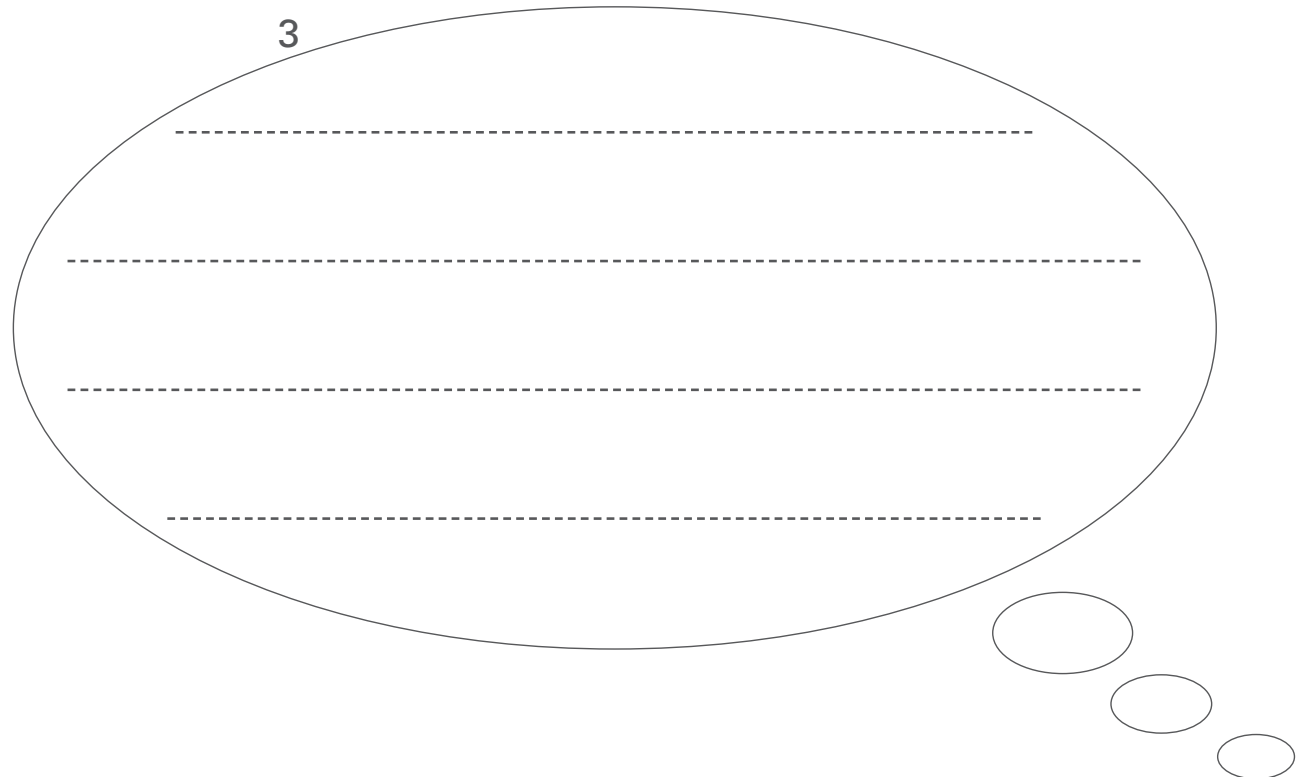

PHOTO SHEET

King salmon farming photos

